

Thursday, May 13, 2010

San Antonio named a best place to live by Relocate.com

San Antonio Business Journal

San Antonio was named as one of the “Top 100 Places to Live for 2010” by RelocateAmerica.com.

The city, with a population of more than 1.3 million, was also recognized as the fifth city in the “Top 10 Overall Cities” category, and the fifth in the “Top 10 Recovery Cities in America” category.

RelocateAmerica.com, a Web site that provides homebuyers and sellers with access to relocation resources, cited San Antonio as a city with one of the strongest economies in the country that is “poised for swift economic recovery.”

The site bases its selection of cities on employment and housing rates from the previous year, crime statistics, current economic climate and cultural opportunities.

Courtesy of JB Goodwin