Residential on 0.30 Acres

Westfield A, Austin, TX

Designed by iconic Austin firm Hugh Jefferson Randolph Architects, this striking home mixes clean contemporary design with the organic texture of brick to create a sophisticated and creative space. Located in the desirable, established neighborhood of Tarrytown, the property is surrounded by beautiful homes and shady, walkable streets; downtown is minutes away. Inside, the juxtaposition of clean white walls and mellow brick continues, with arched doorways punctuating major transitions. Formal living and dining spaces encourage intimate entertaining while the open kitchen/family room support gatherings that spill outdoors to the terrace and pool. A serene primary suite is flooded with light and luxury. Three additional bedrooms surround a second living area; a third-floor office offers quiet and inspiration. *NOTE: First few photos show property currently staged. Additional photos are prior to owner moving out. Outdoor sculptures, totems and large pots in courtyard do not convey.
